FAMILY ADDRESS

The reverend pastor and the church elders, the Christians, dear friends and mourners; I greet you on behalf of the Boh-Egbe Tanya of Nfainchang village in upper-bayang subdivision in manyu division-SW-Cameroon who are UK based.

It is not long since you gathered here to join us pay last respects to our dearly beloved departed aunt and mother. It is neither long since a similar gathering happened to join us pay last respects to another dearly beloved aunt and mother. Here you are once again to join us pay last respects to yet another most beloved uncle and father. Of all the places you could be today, you chose to be with us. Thank you.

I am very privileged to stand here on behalf of the Boh-Egbe Tanya of the UK. Our family has been badly hit and the deep wounds are still bleeding. We can be likened to a child hiding the pieces of a broken plate for fear of the thrashing that will follow if discovered. We tried to conceal our grief for fear of the ensuing question, "die again?". We tried really hard, but you said no! You came again, you prayed with us and for us again, you gave us gifts again, you made phone calls and sent text messages again, you offered your help again. It is through special friends like you, who do not hesitate to go the extra mile in various unique ways, that we can still retain our sanity. For lack of a better word, we use thank you.

Permit me borrow from Magistrate Egbe William Tambong AKA Papa Bill Egbe's words from one of the so many books he read; "33% of people will always love you no matter what. 33% of people will always hate you no matter what. There is a liberal 33% from where you draw to add to your initial 33% to get about 50% of people who always love you". I put it to you dear friends that you constitute our 33% who always love us no matter what. Thank you, thank you and thank you.

In Nfainchang, it is said that, "you cannot insult a crocodile when your legs are still in the water". It is for this reason that we the Boh-Egbe Tanya of the UK, decided not to take you and your love shown us for granted. We pray for God's loads of blessings to follow you as you spend spiritual, physical, financial, emotional and otherwise energies on us. Thank you for always being there for us whenever we have needed.

The bible instructs in 1Thessalonians 5:18, "be thankful in all circumstances. This is what God wants from you in your life in union with Christ Jesus." We have a God who never fails and by faith we see the victory ahead. Thank you for coming and thanks a bunch for listening.

Mrs Tamfu Frida Ethel for the family.
